

Building the California Friendly Landscape

Transforming your entire yard can be an overwhelming and expensive task, but you don't have to do everything all at once. Small changes around the yard can still have a big impact. Pick from any of these landscape features and discover easy water savings that can fit within your budget.

DID YOU KNOW?

A thick layer of mulch is the best way to help preserve soil moisture. It can also enhance your landscape design, creating negative space that makes your individual and plant groupings stand out.

Creating Good Habits

Californians are embracing wise water use as a daily habit! Making small permanent changes in your life can make a big impact – like taking shorter showers, installing water efficient toilets and appliances, and transforming landscapes with California-friendly plants. Even after a historic wet winter, Californians are starting to see water conservation as a habit, rain or shine – drought or no drought.

Californians know. Water Conservation. It's For Life.

Aerators

Using an aerator on the faucets throughout home can reduce your water use by as much as 30%.

Sprinklers

Using micro drip irrigation instead of sprinklers for your plants and bushes is 90% more efficient.

Leaks

Fixing even the smallest of leaks around your home, inside and out, can save up to 110 gallons each month.
